Re: Notification of Structure Modification for Corporate Parents of Excel Telecommunications, Inc.

Dear Ms. O'Donnell:

Transmitted herewith on behalf of Excel Telecommunications, Inc. ("Excel"), please find an original and five (5) copies of this correspondence for the Commission's review and records. This notice is intended to inform the Commission of a modification to the internal corporate organizational structure of Excel's corporate parents. Excel was previously granted authority to provide long distance services (Case No. 89-359) and competitive local exchange services (Case No. 96-214) by the Commission. As explained in more detail below, Excel's ultimate parent company, VarTec Telecom, Inc. ("VarTec"), has taken recent action to merge certain unregulated subsidiaries which are no longer necessary in VarTec's overall corporate organizational structure. One of these modifications involves Excel's sole shareholder, Excel Telephone, Inc. ("Excel Telephone").

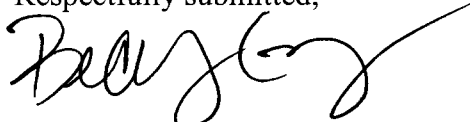

On October 26, 2004, VarTec, also the ultimate parent of Excel Telephone, determined that it was necessary and appropriate to merge Excel Telephone into its sole shareholder, Excelcom, Inc. ("Excelcom"); both Excel Telephone and Excelcom are unregulated holding companies. Excelcom is and will continue to be wholly owned by VarTec Telecom Holding Company, which is and will continue to be wholly owned by VarTec. It has become clear that the numerous layers in the VarTec family of companies are no longer necessary, and as a result, VarTec's Commission of Directors has moved to simplify the overall organizational structure. These changes minimize the administrative burdens for the involved corporations and have no impact on Excel's operations, consumers, competitors or other external parties.

With no operational or other material impact to Excel, Excel Telephone will be merged into Excelcom, and this merger will allow Excel to be held directly by Excelcom. Ultimately, the only modification is the removal of Excel Telephone, an unregulated holding company, from the corporate organizational structure. As such, control of Excel will remain with Excelcom and ultimate control with VarTec, and Excel will continue its usual operations with absolutely no impact to its customers, tariffs or rates. A corporate organizational chart is attached to reflect this simple structure modification, which is scheduled to become effective on October 31, 2004, as Excel believes that prior approval for this type of internal modification is not required.

Excel appreciates the Commission's time and attention in reviewing this minor structure modification. Acknowledgment and date of receipt of this transmittal are respectfully requested. Please date-stamp the enclosed extra copy of this letter and return it in the self-addressed stamped envelope. Please contact the undersigned with any questions regarding this correspondence directly at (214) 424-1509 or at bgipson@vartec.net.

Respectfully submitted,
